❧ The festival I like the Most ❧

The festival which I like the Most is Diwali. It is celebrated on the new moon day of the Hindu month of Kartik. It is also known as the festival of 7 lights. It is celebrated because Lord Rama returned ayodhya back on this day after 14 years of his stay in forest. On this day we light up our houses with diyas or ^{small} earthen pots and pray to goddess Lakshmi for the prosperity and happiness of the whole world. We dress up by wearing new clothes and also burst crackers at night. I like celebrating Diwali very much!

❧ Importance of Cleanliness ❧

Cleanliness is said to be equivalent to 'godliness'. Nowadays, cleanliness is given very much importance because of the advantages which are derived from it. We should keep our surroundings clean as it protects us from various diseases. Dirty water is the cause of many water borne diseases like dengue, malaria, chicken guinea, Zika, viral etc so we should always drink clean water and give emphasis on keeping sources of water clean. We should not defecate in open. The shelters of animals ^{and our houses} should also be kept clean. By cleanliness we can save our expense which is done in hospitals to cure the diseases caused due to the lack of it. It is necessary for all of us to practise the act of cleanliness and also promote others to do the same.

28. Good morning respected principal, teachers and all my dear friends! Today I am here to express my views on the issue of increasing numbers of road accidents. Nowadays the number of road accidents are increasing on an alarming rate. There are many several reasons behind it. Out of these reasons the carelessness of drivers, rash driving by youth, overloading of vehicles, etc are the main. An accident not only causes harm to the victim but also many people around him. So we should follow traffic rules and be aware of the basic norms of driving in order to avoid road accidents. There should be strict provisions for punishing the offenders who break road safety rules. We must first take care of ourselves while driving on road and educate others about the importance of road safety so that there may be a decrease in the number
